

Automobile Hand Controls

For your convenience, the following listing provides information on automobile hand controls. There are several different types of hand controls available including both those installed permanently by certified centers and portable versions that can be transported between vehicles such as a primary and rental car or work car. Portable hand controls are available through several online sites and are generally less expensive. Costs for hand controls generally range from $250- $1000 or more depending on the type and installation.

Hand controls may be ideal for those with upper extremity motor skills but limited lower extremity mobility or function. For individuals who are temporarily limited by a Taylor Spatial Frame, these devices may offer a solution for continued mobility and transportation.

Each state has different regulations concerning hand control usage. You may be asked to complete a course or verification training for your mobility. Some states have adaptive driving training courses. Other states only require a current driver's license. Please contact your local DMV department for the most current information for your state.

This is not meant as an endorsement of any of the following services or products or a comprehensive listing of the local businesses who offer these services. However, it is my hope that it will provide a starting point for you to find the best solution for your needs!
