Overview

The field of musculoskeletal medicine is highly dynamic and rapidly changing. Research findings result in new techniques and clinical guidelines such as revised treatment options for patients who suffer from chronic osteomyelitis, and positive and negative effects of the use of bisphosphonate in patients with osteogenesis imperfecta. Orthopaedic surgeons and clinicians are expected to keep abreast of these advances in order to achieve optimal clinical practice and patient care.

The Visiting Professor Lecture Series is designed to augment both the basic science and applied clinical practice knowledge of our attending physicians. Information presented in these lectures focus on both musculoskeletal research and related clinical science perspectives.

Learning Objectives

Hospital for Special Surgery CME activities are intended to lead to better patient care and safety. At the conclusion of each lecture, participants will be able to:

- Describe current research findings in musculoskeletal medicine and explain their potential implications for clinical practice.
- Evaluate, diagnose and manage various orthopaedic and rheumatologic conditions using the most recent tests and treatment modalities.

Target Audience

Attending physicians, scientists, residents, fellows and associated healthcare professionals
